CITY.

REGULAR NIPPER.—Last evening about 10 minutes past 6 o'clock, while Chief Lappin was standing on the corner of Morrison and First streets, he heard the police whistle blowing loudly. He looked up the street inquiringly and observed a number of men standing in front of the little grocery store on the south side of Morrison, between First and Front. Chief Lappin at once suspected that all was not right, and, upon being informed by a bystander that a burglar was in the act of robbing the shop. However, they could not get inside of the door, as it was locked, and they were not able to procure a key with which to open it. Presently the burglar threw open the door and was watched. He attempted to escape by running through the transom, but the Chief was too quick for him, and as soon as he landed on the sidewalk he was in the clutches of the officer. The burglar proved to be one Charley Garvey, who was discharged from the city jail on the 2d inst., where he had been confined a long term for theft. He stated that a man named Ryan was over the door. In the rear of the store he made considerable noise which kept the attention of Officer Young and held the burglar there, as he thought, for a partner of Garvey's. Ryan, however, knew better than to come in, but remained outside and kept the police from entering the store. Garvey was discovered, as stated, by the officer, and he was unable to perform anything further than a term in Superintendent Healy's sumptuous hotel all the same.

REV. E. C. TAYLOR.—The well known Episcopalian clergyman and will soon appear in a series of lectures. New Market theater has been leased, and Prof. Taylor will appear on Friday next. Prof. Taylor will be assisted by Mrs. Taylor, the organist of Prof. Taylor the San Francisco says: "Part first introduced Pr. of E. C. Taylor, a clever clergyman with a thorough master of the pulpit style. He several very choice selections, the Serenade, Mendelssohn, performed on one of the greatest sentiments and precision, and wonderful and accurate calculation of music. The programme concluded with very charming instrumentalists."

WORK WITH COUNTERFEITING.—The United States deputy marshal of Wasco county arrived here yesterday having in custody a man named A. A. Ingersoll, arrested at The Dalles on Saturday last on a charge of Ben Simpson, postal agent, While in the company with having in his possession counterfeit money. Ingersoll is the man who was arrested at The Dalles on the 4th day of last month. The postal order alleged to have been altered and passed," was numbered 2155, issued from Prineville, Or., on July the 26th, 1880, by Miss Fox, and made payable to Mattie M. Fox at Dalles. White was committed to jail awaiting trial.

JUST AS LIKELY.—Chaplain R. S. Stubbs returned to his duties by this evening's boat that his only brother, Mr. William Stubbs, the entire crew of the ship in which he sailed from New York last December, are given up for lost. No further intelligence is entertained that they will be heard from. The news comes via London, and no particulars received.

BAPTIST MINISTERIAL CONFERENCE AND CONVENTION.

Third Day.

[illegible] October 30th, 9 o'clock, the Baptist convention for the North Pacific coast assembled in the Baptist church. Upon the motion of [illegible] was elected to preside during the session of the convention. The auditing committee made a report which was received and adopted. It was voted to authorize each of the several boards to draw orders that may come in their names before closing the year.

The auditing committee made a second report, which was adopted.

No further business being before the convention, several remarks were made by Revs. Knisley, Hurst and others, and the meeting stood adjourned at 12 o'clock P. M.

The convention was called to order at 4 o'clock P. M., by the president, in the absence of the church, when Rev. A. S. Coats made some interesting remarks respecting the German Baptist church at Bethany, Oregon, and offered the following which was adopted, viz.: That the churches on our field be requested to take up a collection on the first Sunday in November, to assist in building the church at Bethany, and such sums forwarded to D. W. Williams at Portland.

Remarks were made by Rev. Holgate with reference to the special fund at Seattle, W. T. After which the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That, as a convention, we express our sympathy with the church at Seattle, and recommend our people, as far as possible, to assist them in paying their indebtedness.

The committee on next session reported the following:

Chair of preaching, Eugene, Preacher of next missionary sermon, Rev. J. Dale, of Oregon city; alternate Rev. F. M. Lord.

The business session of the convention then adjourned until Monday, Nov. 1, at 9 o'clock A. M.

MONDAY MORNING.—The convention again assembled to listen to addresses from the missionaries employed in the field. An address of twenty minutes was given by Rev. W. E. M. James, concerning his field and work in western Washington. The remarks of the speaker were filled with interest. The account showed how God honors faithful work and the earnest presentation of the truth. Deacon Horace Root, from the Eugene river association, next presented the needs of that field. He said that there are but seven churches in the association, that these churches are spread over a very large territory, and that only one preacher is employed in delivering the gospel to the people and he is a missionary and not giving himself to pastoral work. Rev. J. A. Wiley presented the work in the Puget Sound country and British Columbia. He shows that in that vast territory there is but one church which has a pastor. "Sing, Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Rev. A. J. Hitchcock, the district missionary, presented the work and needs of the whole field. Eastern Oregon especially, was emphasized as a vast, promising missionary country. A number of points were mentioned where missionary services are actually needed. At the close of his speech the speaker presented a quilt made by the widow of Rev. Ezra Fisher of Albany, which had been given to the Women's Missionary Society. In a novel way $11 were raised on the quilt for the society. Song, "Work for Night is Coming," and the meeting was dismissed with the benediction.

The religious exercises for Sunday were unusually interesting. Rev. A. S. Coats preached an effective discourse in the morning. In the afternoon the Women's Missionary Society presented a choice programme, including the annual report of the secretary, which presented a hopeful view of their work, also the report of the treasurer, which shows receipts to the amount of about $300. In the evening the annual missionary sermon was preached by Rev. B. B. McLafferty of Eugene. The discourse was an excellent presentation of the obligations of Christians to "go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." A collection for foreign missions was taken, amounting to $15.

On Monday morning the convention assembled and was called to order by the president in the vestry of the Baptist church. Various items of business were transacted. A vote of thanks was tendered to the Baptist church and friends for their kind hospitality, also to the transportation companies for granting return passes to the delegates in attendance at the convention. Rev. A. S. Coats gave notice of a proposed amendment to the constitution providing for a fourth board on foreign missions whose duty shall be to superintend this work and provideph programme for each annual meeting. After a few touching remarks by the president the convention adjourned to meet at Eugene one year hence.

The Chowder Family go to a Picnic.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

Mr. Chowder, Mrs. Chowder and four little Chowders went off on the excursion to Sugar island yesterday. It had been the talk of the family for a week. Each child had been taken into the bath room and washed, scoured and sand-papered down. Each one had received twelve lectures on the art of behaving himself and herself after getting aboard the boat. Each one had been told about fifty times what to reply if Mrs. Chamsbell felt gracious enough to ask after their health, or if that half-grown boy had one of his streaks on and made up faces at them. Every time the subject came up Mrs. Chowder called for silence, and said:

"Now, children, pay strict attention to what I say. You can't have any ice cream, or lemonade, or peanuts. You can't run up or down the boat. You must not make a racket. You must not ask your father for pennies. You must not keep talking to me. If Henry or William asks to go fishing or in swimming they will get a whipping. If Lucy or Jennie sits down on the grass I shall punish them."

The six sat in a solemn row as the boat started out. Mr. Chowder had one eye on the boys, and the other squinted down the river. Mrs. Chowder had one eye on the two girls and the other fishing at a boy who had harvest apples to sell, and who was trying to get near them. Chowder had his mind made up that if some fellow attempted to find out what a steamboat was like, or hinted at fruit or refreshments, or desired to mingle with other boys, he would squelch him on the spot; and Mrs. Chowder was fully determined to let her pinches be felt the very instant either of the girls forgot her dignity and wrinkled her stiffly starched dress.

Two or three hundred children romped over the island, played "tag," picked up pebbles, climbed trees and raced after grasshoppers, but Chowder and his family talked politics; Mrs. Chowder sat on a camp stool and talked of the poor heathen, and the young Chowders sat on the edge of a plank seat and kept their mouths in proper pucker to reply "yes ma'am" to every old gossip who asked if they were having an awful good time. When they returned, last evening, not a hat had been lost—not a button gone—not a shoestring broken—not a particle of starch limber. They had the same solemn pucker, and Chowder and his wife had that same awful parental dignity. Not one had seen the faintest trace of a smile when a nowsboy standing at the gangplank shouted out:

"Hurrah a family who've been off to bury their dead grandmother—make way for the mourners!"

NEW YORK FREIGHT MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The tonnage movement from eastern ports during the past month comprised three vessels from this port and one from Boston, in all registering 6668 tons, against four vessels of 6231 tons in the corresponding month last year. The total movement for the past ten months amounts to 46 vessels, registering 50,204 tons, against 41 vessels of 72,471 tons in the same period last year. Tonnage on the berth and committed for the trade foots up seven vessels, registering in the aggregate 15,295 tons, a smaller amount than for any period in a long time. Of this amount two will go off to-day, three from New York, one from Boston and one from Philadelphia. Notwithstanding the unusual supply of tonnage in port none has yet been added to the amount on the berth. Still, there is no doubt that on Wednesday three or two vessels will be taken.

The market remains without material change. Rates ruled steady. The steamer Warra sailed today. Intrinsic freights have been a trifle more active than the steamer which sailed Saturday and for the California market, 50 barrels currants, 100 boxes soap, 200 cases oil, 155 cases canned goods, 137 barrels and 50 cases whisky, 10 cases tobacco, 1128 barrels and 1 case, and for China, 41 packages merchandise.

The steamers to be built for the Oregon Improvement company, referred to recently, are to be freight vessels only, and the Improvement Co. between San Francisco and Seattle, the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Co. having bought a controlling interest in the steamship company, also intends will be known as the Oregon Improvement Co.

Rice—Good demand and firm; sales 100 barrs in California at private lots supposed to be 11.

Grain—Sales in Kansas, 300 bushs 42@43c; other markets unchanged.

English Crops and Markets.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The Mark Lane Express says: Harvest reports during the week indicate fine weather. The general character of the crops is somewhat above average. Wheat is of fine quality, well headed and well filled. The deficiency of samples of bad condition has increased, and they are of anything but difficult to sell. The deficiency of English wheat and the continued importation of foreign have caused a steady demand for home supplies, in which the trade is fully employed.

There were fluctuations likely in the imported cargoes, but the general character of the trade has been steady. Foreign wheat on spot has been in fair demand and prices have ruled firm. Cargoes were also in request and the tone of the market was firm. Foreign wheat on passage and for shipment was in good demand and prices were firm. Flour was in fair demand and prices were steady. Barley was in good demand and prices were firm. Oats were in fair demand and prices were steady. Beans were in fair demand and prices were firm. Peas were in fair demand and prices were steady. Indian corn was in fair demand and prices were firm.
